STILL ON THE WING.

The Clever Correspondent of the Toronto Week Coming to Victoria.

A Series of Interesting Letters on the Resources of our Country.

THE TYPICAL LOG HOUSE.

The traveling correspondent of the Toronto Week, who is contributing a series of clever and interesting letters along the line of the Canadian Pacific, thus writes of his observations:

The gentlemen's residences at Donald are all the typical log houses of the settler, constructed on the simplest and most inexpensive plan. Lumber in this part of the country is a costly item, $25 per thousand feet being paid for rough boards which in Ontario would sell at $9 per thousand, or even less. The buildings consist generally of one centre or living room, off which the bedrooms open, with a kitchen at the back, and their dimensions are about 27x19 feet inside. The exterior of these modest dwellings is much more picturesque than would be imagined; the roughly trimmed logs laid in substantial parallel rows over and under each other at the four corners, show many artistic shades of dull grays and browns, blended into a harmonious whole by the creamy white plaster filling the intervening crevices. The logs are often allowed to project a foot or more at the angles instead of being squared off, and this breaks the rectangular lines, and adds a charming irregularity to the general effect. Roofs, floors, inside walls, and partitions of boards use up a surprising quantity of rough lumber, and the latter as well as the walls are covered with sheets of coarse, yellow-brown paper, tacked on to conceal the cracks and joints. This forms an excellent back ground for pictures or prints, and also lends itself admirably to decorative purposes with the brush or chalks.

COST OF LIVING IN DONALD.

In the matter of living, Donald is not a cheap place; at the same time all the necessaries and most of the luxuries of life can be obtained. Beef and mutton are excellent in quality, and sell at 15 cents per pound. Poultry and veal the market does not supply, owing to the scarcity of the biped and utility of the quadruped. Calves are not for the knife in this stock-raising district; the rollicking, awkward little beast leads a charmed life in the west. Salmon comes every week fresh from the Pacific coast, and is sold at from 15 to 20 cents per pound; it is much redder in color, and less flaky in quality, than the Atlantic fish. Fruit is abundant, being imported extensively from California and Oregon. I believe it is not generally appreciated that San Francisco in only three days by sea from Victoria, consequently only four and a half from Donald, so that these perishable articles reach us fresh and in the best condition. Peaches of the most superior quality, and price 80 cents per dozen; Bartlett pears, 60 cents; fine purple and white plums, 25 cents per pound (which means about six); beautiful grapes the same; oranges and bananas 10 cents apiece. Fresh vegetables can be procured once a week at least, sometimes oftener, and are decidedly expensive, though excellent of their kind. What would Ontario gardeners think of pease and beans at $1 a peck, lettuce 25 cents a bunch, vegetable marrow 25 cents apiece, and new potatoes 20 cents per pound? Butter and eggs are neither reproachable nor above suspicion, and bring respectively 30 cents per pound and dozen; bread at 20 cents a loaf, and milk at 15 cents a quart, show that British Columbia is not at present a refuge for the impecunious.

THE SCOTT ACT

does not prevail in this country, but the prices of liquor are sufficiently high to prevent any great over-indulgence; beer and whisky are 25 cents per glass, the latter stimulant is $2 a bottle and the former, both English and American, sells at $3 per dozen for pints, and $5 for quarts. Fortunately, there is excellent water flowing from two or three springs, and the Columbia river provides soft water at 50 cents a barrel. I must not leave the subject of living without mentioning that servants' wages are $25 to $30 a month; and washing given out is done at the rate of $1.50 to $2 a dozen; the Chinamen, of whom only three or four have found their way to Donald, ask only 25 cents per piece. Five cents is the smallest current change, and coppers do not circulate in the Columbia valley.

PLANTS DONNING AUTUMN LIVERY.

I have not noticed any vegetation peculiar to this district, the soil is sandy (as, I believe, is universally the case in pine region), and the herbage is all scanty, cropping up in detached bunches every here and there. Wild strawberries were abundant all through July, and berries of all descriptions prevail now,—huckleberries, blueberries, whortleberries, mulberries, and raspberries in certain parts. Every particle of foliage near the ground seems, at present, to be donning an autumn livery which rivals in brilliancy of coloring the gorgeous tints of the Canadian maples and oaks. The leaves of the wild strawberries glow with ruddy color. I have found a plant growing on the banks of the Columbia river on a single stem, about a foot high, without fruit or flower, in sprays like rose leaves, that resembles strongly the Virginia creeper in richness of coloring, and that streaks the ground about its locality with brilliant splashes of crimson and gold. The Oregon grape, known in Ontario as the Mahonia, offers a beautiful contrast to these gaudy shades with its low bushes of bright, glossy green leaves and dark blue berries; it grows profusely in all directions, and must be capable of resisting severe frosts in the winter season. Under foot, we have the glow of color, so that nature seems somewhat reversed; while, overhead, we are surrounded by the dark heavy greens of the firs, pines, and spruces that are indigenous to the soil, with occasional groups of silver birch and white poplar.

THE CLIMATE IS PERFECT

so far as my summer experience goes, and fulfils all that has been said or written of it. We certainly had some very hot days early in July, when I believe a hot wave pervaded the Dominion generally; and I heard that the thermometers in the town ranged at over one hundred degrees in the shade. The air, however, is so rare, one did not feel it at all in the house, and the extreme heat only lasted from eleven to five o'clock; the nights of those days were so cool that blankets were a necessity, and since then the weather has been cool and bracing, except just in the middle of the day, when the sun is directly overhead; it is pleasant to close the windows in the evening and light a small fire. There has never been a single case of sunstroke even among the workmen employed upon the road, which is certainly hard to realize when one feels the power of the sun at noon. The mosquitoes are to Donald; for my own part, I had no idea what a mosquito was or could be till I came here. Out of doors they are a veritable Egyptian plague, and it is an ordinary occurrence to see men walking about, moving first the right then the left hand round the back of their necks in a species of gentle perpetual motion, to ward off the attacks of the insidious insects, and they actually become quite unaware they are doing it; from the force of habit it has become mechanical, and I dare say they continue the practice long after the mosquito itself has departed. A judicious netting of windows, doors, and beds, with a constant renewal of the backwoodsman's smudge, keeps the house fairly free from the nuisance, and I am thankful to say that the present cool and even frosty nights are decidedly abating it.

A SAD DRAWBACK

CITY COUNCIL.

The regular weekly meeting of the City Council was held last night, Mayor Fell presided, and Councillors Styles, Robertson, Vigelius, Higgins, Lipsett and Humber were present.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Churchwardens of the Reformed Church, in reference to a foul drain leading from Roccabella to the creek. Referred to Sanitary Committee with power to act.

From A. DeCosmos, calling attention to the necessity of a drain on Government street past the Bank of B. C. and the P. O. Referred to the Sanitary Committee.

From J. Teague, asking for street lines corner Government and Broughton streets.

From Capt. Irving, in respect to the inefficient lighting of the approach to the C. P. N. wharf.- Referred to the Electric Light Committee.

From H. L. Gullins, asking permission to give an exhibition of the fire-proof qualities of a paint within the city limits. Granted, subject to the usual supervision.

From C. R. Graves & Co., asking for the privilege of testing fire-proof roofing within the city limits. Granted on same conditions.

From Tai You & Co., asking permission to replace a small wooden roof with same material. Referred to Inspector of Buildings and Firewardens.

From N. Shakespeare, on behalf of the B. C. Agricultural Society, asking for a money grant for prizes, &c.

Councillor Higgins favored a grant of $1,000 and Councillor Vigelius moved to reduce it to $250, which was seconded by Councillor Humber. On motion of Councillor Lipsett, the matter was deferred for one week.

From three residents of Beacon Hill section, asking for connection with the water service. Referred to Water Committee.

From four ratepayers, asking that a sidewalk from the Gorge road to the city limits. Referred to the Street Committee to report.

From Wm. Whittaker, asking for a 4 foot sidewalk along Chambers street opposite his property. Referred to the Street Committee to report.

From fifteen ratepayers in Spring Ridge, asking for a sidewalk on Chambers street between Chatham street and Queen's Avenue. Referred to the Street Committee.

From five ratepayers, calling attention to the bad condition of the sidewalk on Franklin street. Referred to the Street Committee.

From Willis Bond, applying for the use of streets to remove a building. Granted.

From E. Mallandaine, referring to a former application for a drain on Simcoe street and signifying his willingness that the drain should go through his premises. Referred to the Sanitary Committee to report.

From Dr. Jackson, quarantine officer, asking that a police officer be placed on duty at the wharves where the San Francisco and Sound steamers land, in order to guard against the surreptitious landing of passengers afflicted with infectious diseases.

Councillor Vigelius moved to refer the matter to the Police Committee.

Councillor Higgins objected to placing an officer at the disposal of Dr. Jackson. He was willing to send an officer there to preserve order, but not for the protection of the Dominion Government.

Councillor Vigelius said it was not for the benefit of the Dominion Government, but for the benefit of the citizens. Referred to Street Committee.

Councillor Lipsett thought an order from Dr. Jackson to the captain of the steamers to prevent passengers landing until an examination had been made, would be sufficient.

Councillor Higgins moved that Dr. Jackson be informed that the city has no policemen for that purpose, which was carried.

From Conlin & Cameron, calling attention to the dangerous condition of the sidewalk opposite their premises. Referred to the Street Committee.

From Eberts & Taylor stating that Mr. Klingel's cellar had been flooded by the bursting of a main at the corner of Fort and Wharf street, which had damaged goods to the amount of $300, and asking that recompense be made. Referred to Water Commissioner and City Barrister to report.

From four ratepayers asking that a sidewalk six feet in width be constructed on Douglas street.

From M. Humber, applying for use of portion of Broad street for building purposes. Granted.

From five ratepayers, asking for the removal of a ledge of rocks on Herald street between Douglas and Blanchard. Referred to Street Committee.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

A requisition for articles required for the use of the electric light building was read and referred to the Electric Light Committee with power to act. An account for the fireman's wages was presented and Councillor Humber moved that he be paid at the rate of $60 per month, but on motion was laid over until the report was read.

THE HACK-BY-LAW.

On motion of Councillor Higgins the Council went into committee of the whole on the Hack By-Law, when the original copy was found to be in the hands of the City Barrister. As it was impossible to proceed without it, the committee rose and reported progress.

AN EXPLANATION.

Councillor Robertson called attention to an item which he had read in the TIMES, stating that Mr. Pickering was coming out to superintend the construction of the new drainage, and asked what foundation there was for the report.

Mayor Fell said he never heard it before, but supposed it originated as all such reports originated, and was without foundation.

THE TAXES.

The Revenue Amendment By-law was read a second time, Councillor Lipsett explained that the object of the by-law was to compel the payment of all taxes on or before a certain date or failing their collection on the 31st of December, that a rate of one-fifth of one per cent. be added to all delinquents.

STREETS AND WATER.

The Street Committee presented a lengthy report of proposed improvements under the loan by-law, which was adopted.

The Water Committee recommended the extension of pipes and the establishment of extra hydrants. Adopted.

FIRE PROTECTION.

Chief Engineer Phillips recommended the purchase of a new steam fire engine; that verandahs greatly impeded the efforts of firemen; that tubes be procured for the Silsby and more firemen be employed. Referred to Firewardens. An account of $19.50 for extra men was ordered to be paid.

THE NEW LIGHT.

The Electric Light Committee reported the new light in operation and invited the Mayor and Council to visit the building.

Councillor Humber said the light was one of the best on the coast. It was now in good working order.

Councillor Higgins considered the light satisfactory, but was afraid that the new engine was not powerful enough. He suggested an inspection by competent resident engineers.

Councillor Lipsett said the old boiler should be connected with the new, as the latter was not powerful enough to generate sufficient steam.

A committee of three—Messrs. Lipsett, Higgins and Robertson—were appointed to examine the contract, machinery, &c., along with the chairman of the Electric Light Committee, and with power to call in experts. Supplies were voted and a fireman appointed at $60 a month.

A resolution was carried instructing that a uniform be appointed for the Sanitary officer, after which the Council adjourned.

The total cost of the above work will be about $4,000 and as it is all urgently necessary it will be carried out at once under the supervision of the City Engineer.

ALASKA'S "YOUNG IDEA."

The Men and Women Who Will Teach it How to Shoot.

The steam schooner Leo has sailed from Seattle for Alaska. She carries to their northern homes the brave and self-sacrificing teachers who have volunteered to teach the dark-skinned children of Alaska, from Wrangel to Unalaska. The party consists of Rev. Sheldon Jackson, who is government agent in educational matters; Rev. L. Dillon, appointed to Unalaska; Rev. J. H. Carr, and wife, to Unga; Rev. J. A. Wirth and wife, Kodiak district; Rev. L. W. Curry and wife, missionaries at Klarvak; Rev. W. E. Roscoe and wife, Kodiak; Miss Alice Fletcher, representing the Peabody Museum of Natural History, Boston, Mass.; Miss Kate Foote, correspondent N. Y. Independent. The party go directly to Alaska, 1700 miles west; thence to Unalaska, Unga, Kodiak, Kilisnoo, Klawack and Sitka. The government will employ no man who is not accompanied by his wife, and one of the teachers was compelled—no doubt greatly against his will—to take unto himself a help-meet before sailing for the far north. Kodiak, where Rev. Mr. Wirth will be located, is the oldest settlement of Alaska, being established by Gregory Shelikoff in 1784. The first school and first church building of Alaska were on this island, under the Russian government. It was the capital until 1832. The people of the Aleutian and Kodiak islands are called "the civilized people of Alaska." Kodiak has a large church and resident priest; also stores of the Alaska Commercial Company, a deputy collector of customs and a signal weather office. It has over one hundred frame houses. Just north of Kodiak is Afognak island, with an enterprising, industrious population, living in frame houses, dressing like Americans and loving education and music. The present movement is largely due to the enthusiasm and energy of Dr. Jackson, who first visited Alaska in 1877 as a Presbyterian missionary, and has since worked unceasingly for the development of the educational and religious interests of the country.

OUT OF THE WILDERNESS.

"Jerry" Walks Away from Granite City—His Experiences by the Way.

It was no use—couldn't hold it down any longer. Hash-house men, saloon keepers, everybody began to talk cash in a manner that was trying to weak nerves, as I rolled up my blankets and silently stole away. I never was struck on horseback riding but the idea of a

SEVENTY-FIVE MILE WALK

was appalling, and I struck an old Siwash for a cayuse to ride out on. I offered him a dollar and six bits and took the money in his face, but he could not understand much English and my Chinook is somewhat broken and we could not make a bargain. By what I gathered from his conversation he was insane enough to ask $7.50 for a ride on his old beast, so I dropped him and started off lightly on foot. If anyone thinks such a trip has any romance in it, or that there is any great enjoyment in communing with original nature, let him take this journey and be disillusioned. My partner, a jolly good fellow, remarked as we jogged along: "This sunshine is terrible, even a rain storm would be preferable." That night we camped just over the summit of Hope mountain. The wind howled drearily through the trees, and as we lay gazing at the stars the rain began to fall in heavy sheets. We tucked the blankets around us and endeavored to get into a gentle snooze. Then it began to snow. The large flakes fluttered softly down till inches or so rested over us. Through sheer fatigue we fell fast asleep. Digging ourselves out the next morning we resumed march, camping that evening in a brush shack that someone had built on a level place right under the trail. Spreading our blankets we prepared supper and Charlie had just poured out cups of steaming coffee, when crash—and came tearing down into the place, entirely demolishing the muckamuck layout. Gathering himself up and looking about him he said: "Gentlemen, I beg your pardon for my abrupt entrance." "Don't say a word," said Chas., "always glad to have strangers drop in on us." Our new companion was Tamarack McGrath, an old timer. He traveled with us the rest of the way. Next night we traveled till late, and struck no favorable camping ground till long after dark, when we came to a deserted house. Effecting an entrance we built a roaring fire, cooked supper and improvised beds on the floor and were soon sleeping soundly, that is, the others were. I lay a while watching the dying fire and thinking what a blessed fool a man can make of himself by being caught in such a barren quarter of the globe, when I suddenly became aware of the presence of a man standing by the fire, leaning an arm on the chimney and looking steadily at me. "Hellow stranger," said I, "Where did you drop down from." "Listen," said he, "listen," I am not of this world; I'm a dead man, murdered in this house and buried underneath. You will find a sack of gold sewed in my shirt which they did not remove. Will you remember?" "And he started toward me." "Yes," I yelled, "you bet I'll remember," for I was nearly dying with fright. "You won't remember," cried he jumping for me. With a terrible effort I sprang out of bed and awoke, screaming.

A HUGE MAN

ONLY A DREAM AFTER ALL.

Said old Tamarack, "now my son, try and quiet down so we can all go to sleep." Said Charlie, "Jerry, you must have 'em again, by the way you shout; try and let us sleep." Foot sore, muddy and wet with rain we entered the little old town of Hope. O! what a town! built on a little seven by nine patch of ground, surrounded by mountains so high that the birds can't fly over them! But the inhabitants proved such hospitable, kindly and pleasant people that they may be forgiven for living in such a curious place. I went into a place which a huge sign asserted to be "Wardle's store." There I saw a stout, jolly Englishman, whom I recognized at once as the famous "Mr. Wardle" we all know so well in "Pickwick papers." He is now in the mercantile business. I looked around for the "fat boy," but he was not there. I suppose he was asleep some where. Charlie had been telling us on the road about a man he knew in Hope who kept hotel. We would stop with him, he said, for he liked to go where he was acquainted. Arrived there we hunted up

CHARLIE'S FRIEND'S HOTEL.

"Hello," said Charles, walking up and sticking out his paw. The man looked at it, but did not make any violent effort to grasp the extended digits. "Guess you don't remember me," said C. "You bet I do," remarked the man, and he walked away. After dinner Tamarack called Charley to one side and said, "Your friend don't appear to be very cordial." "That's all right," replied C., "you don't savve him. Its only a way he has. He is a brick when you get acquainted with him." And you bet he is a brick. He is clerk, bartender, chamber maid and general rustler, and keeps one of the best houses in the country. When you come to Hope, stay with him. Here I saw Mr. Hagan, formerly of the Inland Sentinel. I learned from him that Messrs. McCatchean and Frank Sears will hereafter run the

"KAMLOOPS ILLUSTRATED."

"Mack" can successfully manage the head office of a steamboat company. I have seen him do it. But when it comes to holding down the local column of a village newspaper, the responsibility becomes very grave. I anxiously await his first breaks. As to Sears, he has gall enough to tackle anything. From my personal knowledge of these men, I predict that the Illustrated will soon become a power in the land and gain world-wide fame JERRY.

WHY FARM PRODUCE IS IMPORTED.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I notice in your valuable paper an item referring to the shipment of vegetables from the Northwest territories to this province, and reflecting on the farmers of the mainland for not pushing for the trade of the home market. The reason the mainland farmers do not push for this trade is because the chance does not present itself, owing to the ruinous competition of importers from California. With Victoria merchants the answer is always, "Well! we have enough and don't want any more, in fact we are getting all such produce from California," and then they "haggle" and "haggle" the farmer down until he becomes disgusted and is only too glad to throw himself upon the tender mercies of the country storekeeper in order to make a sale of his produce, and a bigger set of cormorants never existed than the aforesaid country storekeepers.

HALDIMAND ELECTION.

The Liberal Candidate Elected by a Large Majority.

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—[Special to THE TIMES.]—In the election contest in Haldimand to-day, Mr. Coulter, the Liberal candidate was elected with a majority of over 200. The contest was the keenest that has taken place in Ontario since 1858, when the late Hons. George Brown and John Hilyard Cameron, contested Toronto. The government were confident of reclaiming the county, which has been Liberal since 1841. The Liberals made large gains in many Tory strongholds. Notwithstanding that the registered Indian vote numbered 126, everyone of which the government expected to be polled for its candidate the government majority with the Indians was only 28. During the last week Ministers Thompson and White stumped the county, as did also Messrs. Dalton McCarthy, Lachlan, McCallum, Wallace, Rykert, Kilvert and other prominent Conservatives, and Sir Richard Cartwright, Messrs. W. Patterson, Charlton, Sommerville, "Joe" Rynal and others on the Liberal side. So certain were the Conservatives of victory that Sir John and Hon. Messrs. Thompson, White, McCarthy and a large number of prominent Conservatives assembled in this city yesterday to receive congratulations. The Liberals very naturally are jubilant. The prevailing impression is that unless something extraordinary takes place between now and date of general elections the fate of Sir John's government is sealed. A large number of persons who hitherto were quite indifferent, are pronouncing themselves in favor of the Liberal party and Hon. Mr. Blake, whose popularity is daily increasing in proportion as that of his great adversary is decreasing.

QUEBEC ELECTIONS.

The Quebec legislature has been dissolved. The date of the nominations has been fixed for the 5th of October and the polling for the 12th.

It is stated that the Dominion Government had decided on bringing on a general election to be held on the same day as the Quebec elections, but the result in Haldimand changed its decision.

A BOLD CHALLENGE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—General Paine called on Lieutenant Henn yesterday and proposed after the international races to keep the Mayflower in commission in Marblehead Bay until there came up a gale of wind. Then in this gale he proposes to race the Galatea from Marblehead to Cape Cod. Lieutenant Henn was somewhat taken aback at the bold challenge and asked time to consider the matter. The news of General Paine's challenge got abroad yesterday and opinion is divided in yacht club circles. In discussing the prospects for to-day's race it was the general opinion that the race across Massachusett bay in a gale of wind would be a much better test of the weatherly qualities of the American and English yachts than a race around Bermuda. One yachtman said the English papers had been saying that the Galetia is not the fastest boat in England but admit it is unrivalled among many yachts for weatherly qualities. I don't believe any one believes that even the boasted Irex could sail with her in a gale. Now here is chance of race of two great maritime nations. I hope Lieut. Henn will accept the challenge.

SANDY HOOK, Sept. 9.—Shortly after daybreak there was unusual activity on board the yachts. On sailing craft mainsails were set, while thick black smoke that rolled from stacks of steam yachts showed they were preparing for the work of the day. All of the great throng of people that had filled the verandahs of hotels along the Narrows on occasion of the first race. Those who had stationed themselves along Long Island or Jersey shores were perched upon walls and breastworks of two big forts at the entrance to the upper bay. At Sandy Hook or Jersey hill between Grove and Navisik Highlands as far as the eye could reach it was black with people. Not only from the seaside resorts did they come but from inland towns where the contest has awakened intense interest. The piazzas of all the hotels near the sea were occupied by spectators who came down on the early train and boats before 9 o'clock clouds broke away in the east clearing upon began. The wind continued from the east-northeast. In the east it appeared to freshen. At 9 o'clock Signal Service gave the velocity of the wind at twelve miles an hour. The fog horn was hushed and mist began to move. It was wet work on board of seaking vessels and oilskins were in great demand. Vessels coming in from sea carried light sails aloft. With the wind in the present direction yachts will probably run down to the eastward. At 9:50 the wind was twenty miles an hour with a light rain.

PRINCE ALEXANDER.

TOANE, SERVIA, Sept. 9.—Prince Alexander, Stambaloff, Karoviloff, and nearly all the Bulgarian ministers arrived here this morning in a yacht. The Roumanian troops received the Prince at the landing and lined the route along which he passed to the railway station. Alexander took leave of his ministers and officers here; a farewell very affecting. A Bulgarian aide-de-camp will accompany Alexander from here. He will leave Turne this p. m., and will proceed direct to his parental home at Darmstadt.

THE RESULT IN HALDIMAND.

The late member for Haldimand in the Commons died last February. He was a Liberal, and members of that party in the house made repeated efforts to have a writ issued for a new election. It was felt that an injury was being inflicted on the county by its being practically disfranchised for an unnecessarily lengthened period. Towards the end of the session Sir JOHN on being hotly pressed for a compliance with the wishes of the electors gave the answer that as the new member would not be likely to take his seat during the present session, and his further desire that the election should be held under the new franchise act, on the assurance that the government would cause an election to be held ere parliament met again. Repeated appeals were in vain; the government would not recede from its position and no redress could be obtained. The haste in the Chambly election gave color to the belief that the Government was acting in the most arbitary partizan manner, for inside of a month of the resignation of the late member an election for a new one was held. But in Haldimand there was a large Indian population, who had taken advantage of the enfranchising clause of the new act. Of these 125 had registered. The majority of the late member at the last general election was 126. Mr. MERRITT then, as well as yesterday, was the Conservative nominee. It was believed that the Indian vote, which was claimed to be a Conservative one, as well as the reported dissatisfaction in the Liberal ranks with the leaders of that party over the RIEL question, would be such powerful weapons in the hands of the government as to enable it to redeem the county, which, since 1841, had been a Liberal one. The result of the Chambly election so alarmed the government that it was determined to make the Haldimand contest a test one, as indicating the feeling throughout Ontario. Already New Brunswick and Nova Scotia had spoken in an unmistakable manner. Chambly was accepted as the political barometer in Quebec. The hope entertained that Haldimand's fealty to the Liberals could be broken was yesterday shattered by the announcement that Mr. COULTER, a young promising barrister of Cayuga, had carried the county in the Liberal interest, by a majority of over 200. The Conservatives had built great expectations on yesterday's contest. The progress of the conflict was watched with much anxiety throughout the Dominion. Both the political parties entered upon the contest almost on a level—the chances, if any, being in favor of the government, which sent into the county the Minister of Justice, the Minister of the Interior, Mr. DALTON McCARTHY and every other available prominent personage. The Liberals were equally strong in their contending host. Each party as may well be supposed was sanguine of success, and the usual political tricks resorted to by both parties to secure a victory over its opponent. Much hinged on the result and unerupulousness to an extraordinary degree prevailed. The RIEL question was one of the principal themes on which the political stump orators dwelt. Mr. DALTON McCARTHY, generally credited as being fully in the confidence of the government, knowing himself to be such, and superior to all the other supporters, claims to speak with authority. He was particularly severe on the French Canadians, as were, in fact, all speakers on the Conservative side. In one of his addresses Mr. McCARTHY is reported to have said that if Mr. Coulter goes to Parliament to back Mr. Blake, to support Mr. Laurier, to swell the band which will be so much increased if the province of Quebec goes, as it appears to be going, against the Government, and therefore it is now for the English province of Ontario—and you, the men of Haldimand, are the representatives of that province in this election—to speak out plainly, clearly and decisively, and by your vote at the coming election say—while you have no wish to fight with the Frenchmen; while you desire that every man in Canada, regardless of nationality, shall have fair play—you will not submit to seeing this great Dominion turned into a French province—(tremendous cheering)—you do not want to see this country governed by the French simply because the law was meted out equitably to one of their people."

When it is remembered that the French Conservatives have kept Sir JOHN in power for the last thirty years it will be seen how sensitive his party now feels at the break that has at last taken place, and the consternation the prospect of loosing office has created in the Conservative ranks. It is the old story of "Chickens coming home to roost," for up to a recent period the Liberals had endeavored to counteract the influence of the French-Canadians, who were always regarded as the dominant party. The Conservative organs—the Montreal Gazette and the Toronto Mail—taken exactly opposite grounds on the French Canadian question, which has the effect of demoralizing the Conservative party. The Mail, like Mr. McCARTHY and other ultra Protestants, threatens to "smash Confederation" rather than submit to our fellow countrymen in Quebec, notwithstanding the fact that they were in full sympathy with their Quebec conpatriots for the last quarter of a century. That disintegration has begun in the Conservative ranks is universally admitted and the end of a questionable party career is believed not to be far off. If a change is to take place many claim that it cannot come too soon. The country is ripe for the event.

FINISHED THEIR LABORS.

The Joint Commission appointed by Britain and Russia to decide on the Afghan eastern frontier—a necessary step, in view of the steady march towards India of the Russian bear—have finished their labors. The whole of the frontier has been demarcated by pillars, and there only remains in dispute a small tract containing eight square miles of cultivated land, with an annual revenue of a few hundreds of pounds. The question whether this is to remain Afghan territory or to be given to Bokhara depends on the construction of the agreement of 1873, and it must be decided by the Cabinets which negotiated that agreement. Such a positive settlement is now possible solely through the statesmanship of the GLADSTONE Ministry, which steadfastly resisted the clamor of Lord RANDOLPH CHURCHILL and the other Tory Jingoes who, a little over a year ago, were incessant in their demands that British rights could only be secured at the point of the sword. The British Liberal leader, while holding himself ready to defend the nation's rights at all hazards, declined to accept the Tory idea of what was right and wrong in the premises, declaring that war should only be undertaken by a civilized nation as a last resort. The Tory Jingoes, however, seem to look upon bloodshed as a kind of schoolboy pastime, to be resorted to on any and every pretext, especially if the supposed offender be a traditional enemy and rival for the control of the East, as Russia undoubtedly is. Perhaps the day will come, observes the Hamilton Times, when it will be necessary to go to war with Russia, though why two peoples should consent to the slaughter of thousands of thousands of their number and the expenditure of millions of dollars of their hard-earned money, in vindication of what may be altogether a politician's misconception of right and wrong, it is hard to make out. But the policy pursued by the British leaders, intent on diverting the public attention from much needed domestic reforms to foreign affairs, cannot be too severely condemned. These men talk altogether too flippantly about war and about the necessity for the British nation fighting Russia in defence of her Indian Empire. They do not profit by the experience of the past, which should teach them that Britain can best maintain her prestige in India and indeed in all her colonial possessions, not by a policy of bluster or bloodshed, but by an enlightened and honest rule of the hundreds of millions of subjects who now own the sway of Queen Victoria. Those who take the stand that Great Britain alone shall have the right to acquire additional territory, whether in Asia or in any other part of the world, do not assist in supporting the reputation of the British for love of fair play, which it should be the duty of all patriotic citizens to maintain.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE ON THE UNITED STATES.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press says:—

There may be another fisheries question in store for us. The Canadian Government is arranging to open the cod fisheries off the British Columbian coast. This is the time for our government to have a very distinct understanding as to delimitations. It is unfortunate that our magnificent Pacific Coast line is broken by the intrusion of British Columbia. We want all those codfish ourselves.

"To which the Montreal Herald replies:—Of course! What the dickens does British Columbia mean by shouldering herself in between two portions of anyone else's territory? How did she get there anyway? Doesn't she see that some one else wants "all the cod fish" themselves, and the seals and things, and that she is breaking the line of their magnificent Pacific Coast. Finding the Russians to the north in Alaska and the Mexicans south in California, how came she to wantonly interfere with the property of the United States by settling between those two points? And being there as a British territory before there were any United States at all, how was it she did not get up and get when she heard of their formation. There is no end to the selfishness of some people; keeping codfish that other people want and breaking other people's magnificent Pacific Coast lines. First thing anyone knows she will be catching fish in British Columbian bays, fortifying British Columbian harbors, and going on just as if other people weren't somebody as well as herself. People ought to know that this planet is the exclusive property of the United States, and that they have equal fishing rights with the inhabitants of Jupiter, Saturn, and in all other known, or to be hereafter discussed, or imagined, planets or any other so-called heavenly bodies."

FOR EMERGENCIES.

A SHELF AND THE THINGS THAT SHOULD BE KEPT THERE.

Remedies That are to be Ready for Sudden Sickness—A List of Medicines and Their Uses—Mucilage, Cement, Shoe Polish, Etc.

If there is anything that adds to one's comfort in an emergency, it is a closet shelf prepared for emergencies. That is clear. Accidents, nervousness, sudden pain, midnight calls for help, parcels that want doing up, broken crockery or ornaments, all find a ready answer to their calls on this carefully prepared shelf. It is so easy to prepare and keep in order, can be small or large, as one decides to confine its contents to a few things or enlarged to many. I intend to give a list for the smallest one that I think it advisable for any one to keep, be she keeping house or boarding.

First of all come the things that are to be ready for illness, sudden or otherwise: Camphor for faintness, headache or a sudden attack of diarrhœa, although for the latter there is nothing equal to a tablespoonful of raw flour in a glass of cold water, to be taken in two doses half an hour apart. A closely covered little box of raw flour is easily kept on the shelf to be often renewed, lest it get musty. A small tin can of flour and mustard, mixed in equal parts, ready to mix into a paste for a mustard plaster, is to me a pleasanter arrangement for a hastily required mustard plaster than the "mustard leaves" ready at the drug stores. In a little box beside this can should be old linen and cotton rags, for the other half of the plaster, as well as for cuts and bruises; also a strip of flannel a "finger" broad and three-quarters of a yard long, to be put upon the outside of a cotton cloth, several times folded and wet in cold water, for a compress for a sore throat. Keep your case of court plaster in this box of rags, and a spool of white linen thread, both conveniently near the necessary pair of small scissors.

Camphorated oil, which is best when made at home by dissolving camphor gum in warm olive oil until no more will dissolve, is invaluable in sore throats or chests or a cold on the lungs. Rub in well and there will be no cold taken afterward, as there is after the old-fashioned "goose grease." Vaseline is good for this purpose also, as well as for many others that every one knows about. There is nothing for chapped hands equal to glycerine and tincture of hydrastis, fifteen drops of the latter to an ounce of glycerine. Wash the hands in warm water thoroughly, and before wiping rub in a little or good deal of the mixture, according to the need.

VARIOUS OTHER REMEDIES.

Tannin, a dry, greenish powder, is a great comfort where a sudden severe nose bleed occurs in the family. Once snuffing it up well into the nostrils generally ends the trouble. Tannin forms, with water, a good gargle for sore throat, as it is a healing astringent. It is the best thing for severe chafing, especially for infants. The effect is almost magical. Extract of hamamelis is another indispensable for this emergency shelf. It is really good for nearly all the ills mentioned on the wrapper of the bottle. An excellent way to get hamamelis is by the quart, and it is the cheaper way. On principle, my emergency shelf always holds olive oil, alcohol and ammonia. Hot summer days and headaches find me grateful for my bay rum bottle. I quite forgot to put arnica in my remedy list, although it is decidedly second to tincture of calendula for cuts or wounds. Both are to be diluted with water when used.

It is very pleasant to turn from the above list and point you to my mucilage bottle. How many times you will use it if convenient on its shelf. Next it should stand a bottle of stratina, or one of its relations in the cement family. If Clytie's head comes off, or the butter dish cover breaks in two, or your favorite china cup gets into so many bits that it will only do for an ornament after a vigorous use of the cement, you will be glad of the remedy. A bottle of shoe polish or a box of shoe paste is a handy thing when one dresses in a hurry. Last, but not least, comes a ball of twine. If you are fortunate enough to possess a silk bag, with pretty ribbons and a pair of scissors, to hold your string ball, it is delightful. Otherwise, a ball on the end of the emergency shelf will save much hunting for strings and much vexation of spirit.—Juniata Stafford in Good Housekeeping.

An Authority on Jack Fishing.

Upon one occasion an illiterate relative of Mr. Jefferson, who had long refrained from thrusting his rusticity upon his celebrated kinsman, though all the while extremely eager to see him, was prevailed upon to visit Monticello. Ushered into the drawing room, he was introduced by the host to the assembled company, and during this performance he slipped up several times on the well waxed floor, his awkwardness being, of course, overlooked. Then seating himself in a stiff, embarrassed attitude, he kept perfectly silent. After chatting with several persons Mr. Jefferson took a seat beside him and endeavored to make himself very entertaining. He touched upon a variety of topics, as was his wont, or until he got a theme suited to the tastes or abilities of his interlocutor; but all in vain, for the embarrassed relative remained as dumb as an oyster.

At length, in despair of drawing a word from him, Mr. Jefferson happened to ask him if he was fond of jack fishing. The countryman's eyes snapped, and he immediately poured forth a garrulous budget in regard to his favorite sport, to all of which Mr. Jefferson, amused as were the others present, listened attentively. When he had ended Mr. Jefferson opened up eloquently on the same subject, and displayed such an intimate knowledge of jack fish that the countryman was held spellbound, and as soon as the great signer stopped he rushed for his hat and bolted from the house, despite the most persuasive entreaties for his re-entry in the "octagonal" room.—Baltimore Sun.

The Lawyers Great Procrastinators.

If I was called upon to select the greatest procrastinators in the world, I would select the lawyers. They wait until the last moment, and then come rushing in to do something when they know they are too late. They then storm around because they are not allowed to do something that they know they have no right to do, under the rules of the court and the laws of the state. I believe if the courts were kept open until midnight nine months in the year, you would find some of these lawyers rushing in at 12 o'clock to file a paper that should have been filed two weeks before. Many of them wait until the last day and the last hour of the term with their stipulations and motions, when they appear and confuse the records and upset all previous calculations.—Circuit Clerk in Globe-Democrat.

An Englishman's Opinion of Grant.

Grant I saw in Stanton's office, and he struck me as a quiet and most unpretending thunderbolt of war. In the camp I saw his tent, which was as plainly equipped as that of any subaltern, and it was well known that he hated military parade. Of his strategy I am no judge, nor can I pretend to decide whether any good purpose was served by all the carnage of the last campaign; but beyond question the victor of Fort Donelson was felt to be the military pillar of the north. Grant was thoroughly loyal both to the cause and to his colleagues. I suppose it must be said that he was ruthless. He certainly was, if it be true that he refused to exchange prisoners when his soldiers were perishing by thousands in the murderous prison camp at Andersonville. But if he shed blood without stint, he brought the slaughter to a close.—Goldwin Smith in Macmillan's.

THE CHILD'S VIEW.

My little son, who looked from thoughtful eyes,
And moved and spoke in quiet, grown-up wise,
Having my law the seventh time disobey'd,
I struck him, and dismiss'd
With hard words and unkiss'd,
His mother, who was patient, being dead.
Then, fearing lest his grief should hinder sleep,
I visited his bed,
And found him slumbering deep,
With darkened eyelids, and their lashes yet
From his late sobbing wet.
And I, with moan,
Kissing away his tears, left others of my own;
For, on a table drawn beside his head,
He had put, within his reach,
A box of counters and a red-veined stone,
A piece of glass abraded by the beach,
And six or seven shells,
A bottle with bluebells,
And two French copper coins, ranged there with careful art,
To comfort his sad heart.
So when that night I prayed
To God, I wept, and said:
"Ah, when at last we lie with tranced breath,
Not vexing Thee, in death,
And Thou remembrest of what toys
We made our joys,
How weakly understood
Thy great commanded good,
Then, fatherly not less
Than I, whom Thou hast molded from the clay,
Thou'lt leave Thy wrath, and say,
'I will be sorry for their childishness.'"

—Coventry Patmore.

EXCESSIVE USE OF CONDIMENTS.

Disastrous Results From Improper Selection and Preparation of Food.

How can any thoughtful observer doubt that indigestion, through improper selection and cooking of foods, brings ill-temper, then enfeebled will power, and consequent weak resistance of temptation, grossness, immorality, intemperance, insolvency, divorce, infanticide, suicide and all the calamities of society? What mother will not shudder at such a legion of devils profaning the fair temple of her child's body by their occupancy, and what effort should seem too hard to avert such sad possibilities?

Do I exaggerate? I hope I do; but I am sadly familiar with the history of one life that went out in shame and pitiful weakness, as a confirmed opium eater, whose appetite was created and stimulated by the food prepared for her mother's table, the mother who would have died for her, and who sits to-day in her mourning gown, grieving for her only daughter! Rich food, the excessive use of condiments, wines—this was the testimony of herself, her husband and her physicians—proved the beginning of her ruin, while her brother, with the same surroundings, subject to the same temptations, was unharmed by their influence. We call such a circumstance "an accident;" but behind the seeming accident which harmed one and left the other unscathed, are subtler reasons connected with the physiological phenomena, the mysteries of which man is slowly learning to respect.

I watched the struggle between her womanhood and the serpent which had enmared her, and it was pitiful! At times her broken, enfeebled will would assert itself, and I dared hope would triumph, but soon the wandering eye, the restless manner, the agonizing craving which burned, she said, "like the torture of the damned," would return, and at last her brave brain, which had borne the strain for fifteen years, crumbled and fell in ruins about the feet of one woman who could hold her soul in thrall with the music of her voice as sweet as the song of bird's with a woman's soul in it, and the story of her life was told.—Good Housekeeping.

Paris' Method of Street Transportation.

A system of transfer from one line of buses to another is also a feature of the Parisian method of street transportation. A person wishing to travel by bus to any given point may not find a line of buses going his way. He then takes a line which crosses some line which in turn crosses another line which goes to the neighborhood which he wishes to reach. For a single fare he can transfer himself from one line to another until he reaches his destination. Wherever these lines, which work together under what the Parisians call the correspondence system, cross each other, there is an omnibus station.

When a passenger wishes a transfer he goes into the station and receives a check bearing a number. When the bus which he desires to take comes up an official calls out as many numbers as there are vacant seats in the vehicle. The numbers which he calls are always those in the hands of the passengers who have waited the longest at the station. When the bus is "complet" it does not stop at the station. New comers have no chance until those who have taken advantage of the correspondence system are all served. An American friend of mine could not for some little time understand this system. "Why," said he, "whenever you go to one of these bus stations and try to get on they have a kind of a lottery and call off numbers. If you strike the combination you get a ride. Otherwise you stop on the curb."—Paris Cor. New York Times.

Revival of an Old Fashion.

The White House bride has not exactly started a curious fashion, but she has revived an old one. Among the many odd trinkets that formed part of her trousseau was a live bug about an inch and a half in length, looking like a bit of light, speckled wood. Around the insect's body is a tiny gold harness, to which is attached a fine chain. The lady fastens this chain to her left shoulder, and the bug wanders about at its own sweet will. This species of bug is called the "Machette," and is imported from Yucatan. They were a fashionable ornament some twenty or thirty years ago, and now that Mrs. Cleveland wears one they have again sprung into popularity. Several of our leading jewelers are selling the "Machettes" as fast as they can import them at the rate of $6 apiece. They are said to be deaf, dumb and blind, and subsist on scraps of dead wood. Deaf, dumb and blind! What wonder the "Machette" is chosen as a chaperon? And lives on dead wood, too; promise of future secrecy.—Philadelphia Times.

Sand Drifts on the Baltic Shore.

On the south shore of the Baltic the sins of reckless forefathers are being cruelly visited upon their descendants. Two hundred years ago the coasts of Prussia were defended by a bulwark of magnificent beech forests, that resisted the inroads of floods and dunes; but about the time of the great elector the work of devastation began and continued until some 10,000 square miles of woodlands had been turned into naked sandhills. Now nature is getting her revenge. Year after year the rains and strong floods have washed out the sustaining vegetable film of these hills, leaving nothing but sand and gravel, which gradually accumulated in towering dunes, and at last invaded the landward settlements with a perfect avalanche of drift sand.

Seen from the village of Schwarzort, fifty miles northeast of Koenigsberg, the destruction dealing sand ridge looms up to a height of 120 feet, naked and steep, ever rising by additional deposits brought in by the sand laden sea storms, and ever threatening to discharge those deposits upon the southern valleys. The fisher hamlets of Altnegein and Karwalten were literally submerged by a single storm, and the little town of Pillkuppen had twice to be moved, with all its buildings and fences. The remaining vestiges of the ancient woodlands are unable to stay the mischief. A fine forest near Schwarzort has been turned into a sand bank, crowned by the withered tops of beech trees, which a year's work of the entire coast population would fail to rescue from their sand grave.—Dr. Felix L. Oswald.

Thousands of Old and Young Men he has Cured, and it is a well known fact that for years he has confined himself to the special treatment of sexual and Chronic Diseases, thus giving him advantages few possess. Dr. Vanmoncisar addresses himself particularly to those who have already tried various physicians and remedies from whom they have received no benefits, and who, in fact, have done them more harm than good. Medicine, like all other sciences, is progressive, and every year shows proof of its advance by a combination of remedies of great curative power. Dr. Vanmoncisar has so arranged his treatment that it will afford not only immediate relief, but permanent cures.

You may be in the first stages, but remember you are fast approaching the last. Do not let false pride and shame modesty deter you from attending to your ailments. Many a bright and naturally gifted young man, endowed with genius, has permitted his case to run on and on, until remorse rendered his intellect, and finally death claimed his victim. Remember that procrastination is the thief of time. So lay aside your pride, and consult one who thoroughly understands your ailment, and who will know your case, and find permanent relief for an ailment that has made day a drudgery and night hideous. Thousands upon thousands of men in good standing in the social world, of prominence in the world are to-day suffering from the fruits of their doings, the seeds of which were sown during moments of temptation. A BAD MAN.

David O'Connor, or D. D. Lavin as he was better known in this city, who was connected in a bar-room fight in a saloon on Johnson street near Douglas several years ago, in which J. Robertson received injuries which resulted fatally, has been sentenced to five years' imprisonment at Vancouver, W. T., for desertion from the U. S. army. His wife, nee Bridget Gallagher, spent $10,000 to clear him of the crime committed here, and in return for this wifely treatment he attempted to have her declared insane in order to obtain her property. She now hates him with all the fury of a woman's scorn.

A LONG JOURNEY.

Mr. James McFadden, an old timer, returned on Tuesday from a visit to Hansport, N. S. Thirty-six years ago Mr. McFadden left Montreal for the west, taking six months to make the journey, which he has now just accomplished in six days. It is needless to say that the whole journey was one constant surprise at the marvellous changes which time has wrought in the towns and cities of the east. There returned with him a number of relatives, who will make British Columbia their future home.

TO RELIEVE THE SUFFERING.

The successful firm known as the Stair Kidney Pad Company, of Toronto, are about to introduce their old efficacious and reliable proprietary medicines into this province. They manufacture Dr. Starr's Kidney Pads for lame, weak and sore backs, which have been sold long and extensively throughout Manitoba, Ontario, the lower provinces and in England. The cures effected by these pads are said to be marvelous in the extreme, akin to miraculous, in relieving and curing those—said to be incurable—diseases known as diabetes and Brights disease of the kidneys. A leading eastern member of parliament says that these pads are certainly the best remedy ever tried in his locality for any kidney and urinary disease. These kidney pads ought to have a large sale in this province, as there are many miners, fishermen and railroad navvies afflicted with kidney disorders, to say nothing of its prevalence among other classes of our people. The same company also manufacture numerous other medicines for the cure of other of the many ills which flesh is heir to. A general agent will be appointed for the province. We wish the company success.

A POPULAR TEACHER.

Prior to leaving the Barkerville public school, Mr. W. S. Bannerman, the popular teacher, was presented at his home by Miss Jennie J. Kelly with an address and a valuable specimen by Miss Mollie Nason. The address was as follows:

We, the pupils who have attended school during the past month, wish you to accept this specimen as a slight token of our love and esteem. We are sorry that you are about to leave us, but we will not soon forget you, and hope you will not forget us. That the richest blessings of Heaven be with you always is the sincere wish of James Kelly, Jennie Kelly, Emma Pinchback, William Kelly, Mollie Nason, Mary House, Bertie Nason, Arthur Kelly, Nettie House, Joe House, Mattie O'Neil, Tie Nason.

Mr. Bannerman leaves the school carrying with him the best wishes of the many friends he has made in Cariboo during his sojourn there, who look forward with confidence that his shall be a successful career wherever he may pitch his tent in future.

FIGHTING A CHINAMAN.

Charles McCorlick was charged by Ah Chee with assaulting him on the street near the "Colonist" Hotel on Monday and Tuesday. Mr. T. Fell appeared for the prosecution. When the defendant was asked to plead "guilty or not guilty," he said: "I admit fighting, your honor; but the Chinaman challenged me and I went out and fought him with one hand and whipped him." The court accepted the plea as one of "not guilty" and proceeded to investigate the case. The complainant, who had a pair of black eyes, is cook at the "Colonist" Hotel, and gave his testimony with an injured innocence's air that carried conviction until the other side was heard. Mr. Hammond, a spectator of the fracas, said the Celestial invited McCorlick to "fightee," which rather contradicted the narrative of the complainant. The case was dismissed, and McCorlick retired with the air of a victor in law as he had been champion in the fight.

A SATISFACTORY TEST.

The test made to-day by Mr. H. L. Galline of the merits of the P. & B. Fire & Water Proof Paint, in the presence of two hundred spectators, was entirely satisfactory. A dry shingle roof, 6x4½ feet, which had received one coat of the paint, was covered a foot deep with dry shavings which burned for about ten minutes or until the flames died out. The roof was not even charred. The paint, we have no doubt, will be in great demand, as it is all that it is represented to be.

MUNICIPAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I observe from the report of the council's proceedings last evening that Councillor Higgins has magnanimously proposed to donate $1000 of civic funds towards the British Columbia Agricultural society, and while admitting the fact that the annual exhibition in this city will be an advantage from many points of view, and one to which our citizens will doubtless liberally contribute if asked, I must as a ratepayer, and property owner, protest against the outlay proposed, more particularly for the reason that the civic treasury is reputed to be not only empty, but that a large overdraft exists at the bank. This being the case it is well that the Council have hesitated in making a vote of what they really do not possess. I would suggest that before any further expenditures are voted that the Council should seriously set to work and see what their actual position is financially, and I venture to state that they will find themselves on the wrong side of the ledger. At any rate they will think twice before making themselves personally responsible for expenditures without their limit as councillors.

BARKERVILLE SCHOOL DIFFICULTY

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—For many years no event has transpired that has given so much general dissatisfaction, and uneasiness than the dismissal of Mr. Bannerman. For, as a teacher, he has had no equal in Barkerville, and he is just as much respected as a gentleman as he is admired as a teacher. As the dismissal is in opposition to the wishes of the majority of the parents, and as there are no valid reasons for it, unless to gratify the envy and ill-will of a few men can be called reasons. The people desired a public meeting to enquire into the disgraceful affair. Over a month ago the trustees were notified to call a public meeting but refused to do so. Therefore, a public meeting was called and held on the 28th instant, which was largely attended. After a chairman and a Secretary were appointed the meeting was called to order. The trustees, who had been especially invited to be present, being absent, Mr. Bannerman gave a short account of their dishonorable conduct toward him, substantiating what he said with documents bearing their signatures. The first document read contained Mr. Bannerman's first dismissal, which I give in full.

BARKERVILLE, June 21st, 1886.

W. S. BANNERMAN:

SIR,—The Scool boarrd don't won't to re-engage you. (Signed) J. Nutt, J. Houser, C. Hagemann.

You can imagine Mr. Bannerman's surprise when, on July 1st, he received this document, containing his dismissal, without a single reason therefore. For during the interval between the writing and the receiving of this document, both the trustees at, and after, the annual examination spoke of Mr. Bannerman, not only in the most flattering terms, but expressed the desire that he should remain in charge of the school. One of the trustees had, for himself, a letter written to the Supt. of Education, in which he speaks of the examination as a literary and social treat, giving satisfaction and pleasure to the whole community. As soon as Mr. Bannerman received the document he saw two of the trustees, one of whom declared they had been made drunk, and immediately notified him in writing to have his signature removed, as it had been served without his knowledge and consent. Secretary Houser stated further that while drunk, Dr. Watt prepared an advertisement for another teacher so that it is difficult to see how the doctor's "hands are clean" in this affair. But no reason having been given the document was void and nothing further was done until the 15th of July. On that day J. Nutt, J. Stone and H. Watt met in the post office and sent for Mr. Bannerman, who on his arrival had sharp words with them. A few days afterward he received another dismissal, with reasons "that he had abused and insulted" J. Nutt, J. Stone and H. Watt. At the public meeting Mr. Stone frankly admitted that as far as he was concerned the charge was wholly untrue and when asked why he allowed his name to be associated with the false charge to injure the teacher he equivocated, shuffled and withdrew from the meeting. To the same questions, after hesitating, H. Watt admitted that he had abused and insulted him on this account he allowed his name to be used. Mr. Bannerman charged and gave presumptive evidence that it was true that H. Watt had influenced the mind of J. Nutt against him while a patient under his charge both at the hospital and at his own cabin.

After further discussion the following resolution was passed with only one dissenting voice.

Whereas Mr. W. S. Bannerman has been in charge of the Barkerville public school for the past two years, and during that period has proved himself a painstaking and very successful teacher, as attested both by the parents and trustees, and has also shown himself a good citizen and a gentleman in every respect; and whereas the trustees, Messrs. Nutt, Houser and Hageman, apparently to gratify the ill will and jealousy of disinterested parties, enemies of our school, and contrary to the wishes of the parents, have dismissed Mr. Bannerman, Therefore be it resolved that this meeting is of opinion that said trustees are guilty of conduct unbecoming men, and are wholly unworthy of public trust or confidence.

GEORGE FERGUSON,
Chairman public meeting held in Theatre Royal, Cariboo, Aug. 28, 1886.
JAS. BIRBY, Secretary.

Your readers can now form their own conclusions as to the treatment given Mr. Bannerman by the trustees.

MINER.

Damiana makes the old young, and the weak strong and healthy.

According to statistics recently published in a German journal on the railway enterprise of the world, the aggregate mileage to the end of 1884 was 290,750 miles. Europe claimed of this total 117,694 miles; Asia 12,757; Africa, 4,075; America, 148,738, and Australia, 7,486 miles. Australia has the largest amount of railway accommodation in proportion to population, and the United States and Canada come next. The cost of constructing the universal system is estimated at £4,800,000,000. The highest expenditure was in Great Britain, where it amounted to £41,168 per mile as compared with £24,797 in Belgium, £24,928 in France, £21,041 in Germany, (State railway,) £20,885 in Austria, £16,449 in Russia, and £12,659 in the United States. Not less than 60 per cent. of the whole mileage of the world is in English-speaking countries.

The Postmaster-General of the U. S. has decided that postmasters who fail to notify publishers when subscribers remove or do not take the papers from the postoffice shall be responsible for their subscriptions. In the United States people appreciate the fact that newspapers, take them all round, are an enormous benefit to the community and guarantee of the public weal and accordingly are disposed to give them fair play. In Canada, people have not got so far yet. Canadian laws leave Canadian newspapers largely at the mercy of swindlers and black-mailers.
